

MRS. DIEWALD'S Newsletter

We had another busy week! Judge Rudolph came in and read a book to us to help learn about Abraham Lincoln, we talked about community workers and gave a presentation, we read a new story about rules, we learned about money and had a Valentine's Day party.

What will I learn next week.....

Religion: We will continue Chapter 26, We Show Love and Respect. This is great subject as we learn to accept all of our friends and get along.

Math: We will continue our chapter on money. We will learn about each of the coins and learn how to count on as we add the money together.

Reading: Next week we will be taking our Benchmark Theme test. We have been testing every Friday over the material we have learned each week, but this test will see how well we know the information from the entire unit. There will be a Spelling section on this test so no new words for next week.

English: We will have an English portion on the Theme test as well.

Social Studies/Science: We will be concentrating on our biography parade. Please make sure your child knows their part so it is easier when practice at school. Biography posters went home today and are due next Friday.

REMINDERS:

Friday, February 14th - biography posters sent home today

Wednesday, February 19th - biography parade- come to school dressed up

Friday, February 21st - poster due

Have a great weekend!
